Rules & Guidelines

These are the rules of the AlaskanPD Revamp community. These rules are crucial in ensuring a fair and realistic Roleplay experience. We hope the rules listed outline everything but please keep in mind that rules are subject to change without notice. If you have any questions or queries, feel free to contact a staff member through the discord, following the chain of command.

Rules - Even one instance of breaking a rule can result in a ban, it is your responsibility to remain updated with any changes to the following.

General Rules

- You must be able to speak and understand English. Unless you are not in an RP situation, you may choose to speak another language with friends.
- Don't influence others to break rules, you'll receive a similar punishment.
- Do not use any real-life events in the city. (No Suicide RP, terrorism, or outbreaks) - not limited to these examples.
- You cannot stop roleplay if something happens that you do not like. All parties must agree to it.
- You must never spam the attacking/melee button on someone.
- Always try your best to be neutral with everyone and not over the top.
- Never use an explicit or offending name on any AlaskaPD platforms.
- No racism, trolling, homophobia and sexism.
- Treat each other with respect, and everyone is equal.
- Combat logging/storing to avoid being robbed/arrested is not permitted.
- Using chat in a disrespectful manner will result in a kick.
- Do not use malicious/disrespectful language against another player due to their gender/race. An example may include calling a Female a Bitch in a malicious tone.

Section 1

Accounts & Character

1.1 Account

- Anything that occurs on your account is your responsibility.
- It is prohibited to buy or sell accounts and/or valuables from another user. The community is not accountable for scams and/or permanent Banned accounts.

1.2 Donations

- All donations/purchases are permanent and non-refundable. If there has been a mistake or any other circumstance, please contact an owner immediately.
- In a situation, where a buyer is banned for violating the server rules, any purchases made by the buyer will not be refunded, remember that buyers are held responsible for their actions, just as any other player.
- All purchases/donations are tied to your Discord & Patreon account.

1.3 Character

- Players are not allowed to create new characters during RP, All involved parties breaking this rule will be punished.
- Stream sniping and using information from watching a stream is against the rules. No information obtained from OOC should make it in-game.
- Police cannot play a corrupt cop.
- Players can not pretend to be fake cops.
- Make sure you separate your characters. They do not know each other, they don't know where your weed location is, who your friends/enemies are, etc.
- Value of life. At all times you must value your life as if it were your last. If you're at a clear disadvantage, for example, a gun pointed to the back of your head whilst you're looking the other direction, you must comply with their demands. If you are outnumbered 3 to 1 you must comply. This does not mean that you don't have an option to try and escape. When possible and in a correct situation, you have the option to try and escape. A bad example of an attempt to escape is if you are being held hostage in front of a bank and decide to run away even though the person has a firearm ready.
- When you die and are taken to the hospital, revived by pressing E, you must not return to the RP scenario you were previously in for at least 30 mins.

Section 2

Modifications & Exploits

2.1 Game Modifications, Cheating and Macros

- It is strictly prohibited to use any game modifications and enhancements that can give a player an unfair advantage, such as increased speed, health regeneration, teleportation and similar hacks. A player caught cheating will be permanently banned without any prior warning.
- Players are allowed to use visual enhancements or other game modifications that do not give the user an advantage which can be classed as cheating or unfair. Binding keys to server commands or text messages for faster and more convenient access is permitted.
- Macroing is the act of using third-party software or hardware enhancements that enable the player to perform automated actions. Macroing to perform activities for a financial benefit or to circumvent the AFK script is a bannable offence. All property and experience gained through macroing will be revoked.

2.2 Exploiting Server and Client Bugs

- Exploiting server or multiplayer client bugs is prohibited. If a bug is exploited for a financial benefit or for cheating purposes, the abuser will be banned. In addition to the ban, if a player is caught abusing a bug for a financial benefit, everything he had gained (or much more) will be revoked.
- All server bugs must be reported on section #Bot-Commands there's a format you can follow below!

Section 3

In-game communication & Priorities

3.1 Communication Procedures

- Players are allowed to speak to each other in another language through personal messages or through faction chat if the faction policy permits it.
- Any kind of advertising of other GTA V communities or cyber threats is forbidden on all servers and channels. Malicious advertisements or cyber threats aimed at hurting the community will result in a permanent ban.

3.2 Priority Status

- Do not spam identical or meaningless messages multiple times, do not spam server commands multiple times, and do not spam game unrelated irritating sounds using voice-chat.
- In-character offensive language, threats are allowed, however, insulting another character gives them a roleplay reason to take hostile action against your character. Racism/Sexual harassment is not allowed in character or outside character.
- Any kind of out-of-character offensive language, threats or racism is prohibited. You cannot make death threats to living people, death threats aimed at living people will result in much harsher punishments.
- Excessively screaming swear words at people or a person is not tolerated.
- An administrator has the right to request that a player stops offending another player's character if the administrator thinks that the in-character exception for offensive language is being abused.

3.2 OOC

- The true purpose of OOC in-game is to contact staff, talk outside of Roleplay about any issues. Do not report any bugs or Staff Issues through OOC because other players might take advantage of it. To report a bug you must do it through discord
- This is to ensure quality is maintained in the RP within the city limits but remember AOP is State-Wide, which improves the quality for everyone and is beneficial for both streamers and non-streamers if everyone is just not in one area

Reporting

4.1 Report

- If a player thinks that an administrator is abusing his powers, the player may submit a Staff Member Report on the Discord by opening a ticket (Coming Soon).
- Administrators can request players to halt all actions in a roleplay situation if the server rules have been or are currently being broken. Those who refuse to listen to an administrator while the scene is being investigated can be kicked or banned.
- Players can report present rule-breakers in-game through Discord, Steps Can Be Found In #faq on discord. However past situations should be reported on the forums by providing all necessary information and evidence to support the report.

- No shooting without initiation of RP.

5.2 Businesses

- A player can roleplay owning a business but after they stop their roleplay scene, they give up ownership.
